2019 Week 34

Another week of miniscule movements in SPP this week, the SPP this week stand at 153.01p/kg, this is 0.21p higher than a week earlier but nearly 4p above a year ago. Poor domestic demand continues to prevent money going into our pig price despite the fact imported pig meat is costing more. Weekly total slaughter pigs are at 175k plus more than last week and up 2% on the year, Carcase weights averaged 83.50kg, pigs are still nearly a kg heavier than last year at this time which is accounting for further supplies of pig meat on the market.

All pig prices have stood on this week and with the ample supplies of pigs coming forward they have done well to do that. The fresh meat market is relatively quiet because of lack of sunshine is preventing BBQ trade and there are a lot of consumers on holiday. There are ample supplies of store pigs of any category available this week with relatively few finding homes. Again, sows have risen on the back of the German market.

Good news for the world market is that Russia has come back into the marketplace as an importer of pig meat.
