2014 Week 21

What a week! What we need is some sunshine; both here and the continent are lacking it and certainly caused a halt in finished pig prices, both for the continent and our UK market. The Russian situation continues to be a factor.

German prices again stood on and as Germany has such a major impact on the market place the influence is great, if we saw a rise on the German market and demand slipped back into place we would see European prices rise again and this in turn would certainly help our sow market.

We have another Bank Holiday weekend upon us again hopefully when this blip in the market has gone, we should see some stability and demand back into the market place.

Across the board there was no rise in price for bacon pigs although one or two processors were likely to be short, with the lack of sunshine the fresh meat trade was a stand on. On the Weaner front it was a similar situation. Our UK sow market come back considerably last week i.e. 3 or 4p kilo this week they struggled to stand on.

Enjoy your bank holiday.
